101/1
ENGLISH
PAPER ONE
FORM 4
(Functional Skills)
March / April 2013
TIME: 2 HOURS

BARINGO NORTH TRIAL EXAMINATIONS- 2013
Kenya Certificate of Secondary Education (K.C.S.E)
FORM FOUR

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES
1. Answer all questions in this question paper.
2. All your answers must be written in the spaces provided in this question paper.
3. Sign and write the date of examination in the spaces provided above.

FOR EXAMINER’S USE ONLY

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Question</th>
<th>Max. Score</th>
<th>Cand. Score</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1</td>
<td>20</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2</td>
<td>10</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>3</td>
<td>30</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>TOTAL SCORE</td>
<td>60</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
1. This year your country experienced a severe famine caused by drought. A commission was set up to investigate ways of preventing a similar calamity in future. As secretary to the commission, compile a report of the findings and recommendations. (20 Marks)
In normal situations, children’s aggressive behaviour wears (1) _expression_ as the ability to express their desires and (2) _development_ develops. Children whose aggression (3) _remains_ does not decline with time lose their temper frequently and are (4) _anxious_ extremely irritated and frustrated over minor issues. They are also disruptive and antagonize (5) _bothersome_ by hitting, pushing, yelling and name (6) _teasing_ threatening and teasing. They habitually (7) _engage_ physical or psychological (8) _harassment_ on others. As a result, they have trouble with their peers and often face rejection.

Studies have established that boys are three times more (9) _likely_ than girls to be aggressive owing to the concentration in of the male hormones, androgen and testosterone. And children who are (10) _prone_ to aggression are more likely to act aggressively than those who…

3. (a) Read the narrative below and answer the questions that follow:

Once in the land called Kivala lived a family which had two daughters. The girls were called Anakaguku and Omulahi. Anakaguku was a hunchback and didn’t look very admirable. Her sister, Omulahi, was very very beautiful. Every young man wanted her for a wife.

Omulahi was choosy. She wanted a very handsome man to marry her. To her, the young men around were not of her choice. She turned them away whenever she was approached. For a long time, no one that really appeared to her came home. Then one day one came.

The man found Anakaguku at home. Her sister was in the garden with her parents. He was asked to wait for them as they were about to return. He sat in the living room and chatted with his friend. Anakaguku noticed through a crevice in the door that led to the kitchen that they breathed out sparks of fire. She gave them food. The man swallowed all the food and all the plates. Then the friend told the suitor, “What is this you are doing? You will not win the girl if you are found out spit out the plate and bowl before they return” All this while, Anakaguku was listening and peeping through an opening in the door.

Omulahi arrived home tired but the sight of the young handsome suitor made her happy. She did not wait for him to say he wanted her hand in marriage. Anakaguku called her to the back of the house and warned her that the men were ogres. ‘Shut up you ugly thing’ “You are just jealous.” Anakaguku loved her sister. She cried. This did not stop Omulahi from going ahead with her wedding plans.

Dowry was paid whole in a week. It was not as many suitors found paying heavily in installments for a beautiful girl. Soon. Omulahi was leaving home. Anakaguku was told to stay home. It was terrible to show ugly girls in the home where Omulahi was getting married. Anakaguku followed them from a distance. Once Omulahi noticed her and harshly shouted at her “go back home. You can’t go with us. You hear me? You are ugly. I don’t want our in- laws to see this ugly thing on your back” “Omulahi, let her go with us. She is your sister. Do not mistreat her.” Said Omulahi’s husband. So Anakaguku went with them.

On arrival, they were received by the villagers who had set supper ready. At night, the girls that had escorted the bride shared a room with the couple. The handsome husband timed when ‘all’ were asleep and changed into a huge monster that breathed fire.

Anakaguku woke up and saw him.

“Waaai” She cried out.

“In-law, are you ill? Asked the “groom”

“I need water. I am so thirsty.”

“Oh, that? There is some in the pot”

“No I don’t drink from a calabash. I drink from a woven basket, water that is collected fresh from the river. Please will you do it for me?” requested Anakaguku shrilly.

“Ah! But anyway, I will do anything for my sweet in-law.”

“Thank you”

The ogre dashed out with a basket leaving his friends watching. In one stride, he was in the river. The friends waited but he didn’t return. One by one they left to see what was happening. The basket would not hold water. Even with their hands under, the water would seep through and they would stride back to river.

Meanwhile Anakaguku woke up, all the girls including Omulahi. She convinced them that the men had planned to eat them. Quickly they packed what they could and left. By morning the ogres had not returned. Anakaguku and the girls had crossed the big river back to their parents. There ends my story.

(a) i) What would you do in order to capture the audience’s attention before you begin to tell this story? (2Marks)

_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________

ii) How would you make the story interesting if you were to tell it live? (2Marks)

_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________

iii) Give two ways how you tell that your audience is enjoying listening to your story. (2Marks)

_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________

iv) “In-law, are you ill? .. which intonation would you use in saying this line? (1Mark)

_____________________________________________________________________________

v) How would you effectively perform the last dialogue between the ‘groom’ and the in-law? (3Marks)

_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________
b) A student play will be followed by an awards dinner honouring students who have served both your school and the surrounding community. The mayor has been invited and will attend.
You have been asked as the entertainment prefect to pass a vote of thanks on this day.
What non-verbal cues will make your speech effective? (4Marks)
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

b) A student play will be followed by an awards dinner honouring students who have served both your school and the surrounding community. The mayor has been invited and will attend.
You have been asked as the entertainment prefect to pass a vote of thanks on this day.
What non-verbal cues will make your speech effective? (4Marks)
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________
_____________________________________________________________________________

Student : ........................................................................................................................................ (1 Mark)

Receptionist : Yes, Each course lasts for three weeks.

Student : ........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................ (2 Marks)

Receptionist : Well, it’s about twenty - three hours a week. Usually four and a half days each week.

Student : ........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................ (2 Marks)

Receptionist : The whole course will cost you Kshs. 15,000. We require a deposit of Kshs. 5,000 and Kshs. 500 registration fee.

Student : ........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................
........................................................................................................................................ (2 Marks)

Receptionist : You’re welcome

END